

Can Diversity Lead to Unity?

In preparing for this task we have looked at the history of immigration in Australia from a broad historical perspective. We have also looked at recent issues relating to immigration through personal stories and accounts and through opinions expressed through various organisations and the media. Now it is your opportunity to make sense of our work so far. Can diversity lead to unity?

