Example: docAppender puts a Google Form at the bottom of selected Google Docs Possible use: a running log of observations rubrics on student documents
peer reviews of a submission

The screenshot shows the docAppender add-on interface. At the top, it displays the add-on name, a star rating of 5, and the developer 'New Visions Cloud Lab' with 4,771 users. A 'FREE' button and a share icon are also visible.

The main interface is divided into several sections:

- Left Sidebar: Contains settings for the add-on, including '3: Form values to be added to target on form submit', 'Timestamp', 'Username', 'Student Term Paper', 'Your Name', 'Peer Review Feedback', and 'Peer Grade'. There is also a '4: Format for appended responses' section with a 'rate vertical tables' dropdown.
- Main Form Area: Shows a Google Form titled 'Student Term Paper' with a 'Doc picker question' at the top. Below it are fields for 'Your Name' (with a note that the Google username will be auto-recorded), 'Peer Review Feedback', and 'Peer Grade'. A 'Submit' button is at the bottom. A red box highlights the 'Peer Grade' field, with a note 'Excluded in step 3...'. A red arrow points from this note to the 'Peer Review Feedback' field.
- Right Panel: Shows a 'Confirmation Page' with a 'Your response has been...' message and options to 'Show link to submit and Publish and show a pub' and 'Allow responders to edit'.

At the bottom, there is an 'OVERVIEW' section with the text: 'Appends Google Form question responses to the bottom of selected Google Docs.' and 'Use a Google Form to select which Doc(s) to append from a list, multiple-choice, or checkbox Form question -- pre-populated with Doc titles from a folder in Drive.' Below this is a 'HOW IT WORKS' section with a diagram showing a document icon and a plus sign.
